FRANCO TRIES TO SIDETRACK ATOM INQUIRY

GERMANS REPORTED WORKING ON BOMB IN SPAIN

BY MAX HARRELSON

New York, April 13 (P)—Poland and Mexico indicated today they were prepared to fight the Franco suggestion that "friendly" powers in the United Nations investigate charges that German scientists are working on the atomic bomb in Spain.

It still was too early to tell whether they would win enough support in the security council to defeat the proposal, but some delegates expressed the belief privately that it would be rejected because of the limitations laid down by Generalissimo Franco.

Three conditions were specified in the Spanish communiqué issued in Madrid last night:

1. The commission must be made up of representatives of nations with which Spain maintains friendly relations.

2. It must limit its activities to visiting manufacturing establishments and experiment stations to ascertain the truth of falsity of the atomic bomb charges.

3. It must agree to give ample publicity to the results.

Mobilization Big Issue

Under the Franco limitations, six of the eleven nations on the security council would not be permitted to be represented on the commission. Russia, France, Poland, Mexico, China and Australia do not maintain diplomatic relations with the Franco government.

A spokesman for the Polish delegation described the invitation as "a typical Franco trick." He said the council could not permit Franco to "dictate" what kind of a commission it should send.

Spanish Republican circles in New York said "the atomic bomb question is not the core of the Spanish issue" and added that it would be worthless to investigate that question alone.

These circles said Franco's statement was "an attempt to draw public opinion away from the basic problem" which was stated last night by Fernando de Los Rios, Republican representative.

De Los Rios indicated in his statement that he believed the major issue was mobilization of Spanish troops. He said a secret document showed that Franco now had 450,000 troops aligned on

Folks In Kalamazoo Take To Hitchhikes During Bus Strike

Kalamazoo, Mich., April 13 (P)—As in four other Michigan cities in the last week, hitchhiking became popular here today.

A strike of 60 bus drivers and 15 mechanics called last midnight left this city of 75,000 without public transportation.

In a similar plight was Lansing where drivers for the Inter-City Coach Lines walked out yesterday noon in a wage dispute. In both Lansing and Kalamazoo, it appeared that the teams would continue until at least Monday.

Detroit, Saginaw and Pontiac also had transportation strikers earlier in the week, the Detroit walkout lasting seven days.

The Kalamazoo drivers and mechanics, members of an AFL union, struck over seniority rights and a reduction in pay due to shorter hours. The Kalamazoo system is owned by National City Lines of Chicago.

Ore Docks Idle As 3,000 Iron Miners Remain On Strike

BY JAMES T. TRETHWEY of The Marquette Mining Journal
(Written Especially For The Associated Press)

Marquette, Mich., April 13 (P)—It's almost the middle of April and no one hereabouts has sighted an iron ore vessel this spring. Further, there has been no report, official or otherwise, of the date when the first carrier can be expected.

It's all a result of the prolonging iron mine strike on the Marquette range, which not only has made 3,000 men idle for more than two months but has prevented any ore being dumped into the hundreds of bins of the two giant ore-loading docks in this port.

Usually, ice conditions at the Soo locks determine the opening date of Marquette's navigation season, but apparently there will be no large steamers entering the harbor until the mine strike is settled. The first boat arrived here on April 6 last year.

The usual towering ore stockpiles near the mines in Marquette county are missing, another result of the strike called Feb. 8 by the man who didn't wish to be president," the committee said in a 3,500 word review, adding:

"The record of Mr. Truman's year as president is a record of confusion—confusion in international relations, confusion in national affairs, and confusion throughout the administration."

The committee said the Truman administration "is at war with congress," and continued:

"Mr. Truman began his administration with unusual advantages. He had the pledges of both parties in congress toward winning the war and establishing peace and security at home and abroad. Republican Senators offered Mr. Truman a specific plan to avoid irreconcilable differences by consultation with Republican leaders before any conflict developed over controversial legislation."

"But Mr. Truman failed to use his opportunities. He speedily ended his honeymoon with congress, preferring to tread the leftward path of radical experimentation."

"On foreign relations, the committee said the president "recites high-sounding statements of foreign policy. But these are far different from the actions which he approves."

"It asserted he "pays lip service to the United Nations," adding:

"But he has failed to inform his representatives of official policy on vital matters, such as trusteeship and atomic energy control."

"He has thus added to the confusion of our international relations."

"As inept as the Truman administration has been in its dealings with the House voted today. The House had been all set to pass the bill today. It had decided by a three-vote margin to prohibit any inductions between May 15 and October 15 of this year, although extending the draft law itself until February 15, 1947, or nine months from its present expiration date.

"There was no record vote on the "holiday" proposal, which went into the measure by a teller count of 156 to 153 after charges it was inspired by "politics."

"There was no record vote, either, on the amendment raising the present minimum draft age from 18 to 20. It went into the measure by a non-record vote of 195 to 96, the same as the earlier tentative ballot.

NAZIS IN CHINA ARE DEPORTED

Germans Disguised As Refugees Rounded Up

By U. S. Authorities

Shanghai, April 13 (P)—Plans for mass deportation of all Nazi

Germans in China were announced today by American military authorities, who emphasized that,

"we are going to get them all—even those who have been able to evade the Chinese so far."

Chinese authorities already have rounded up many Germans in China. Most of these now are in the Shanghai area, where the situation is complicated by the presence of some 20,000 Jewish and other refugees who fled Germany and Austria years ago to get away from the Nazis.

Several months ago Chungking issued a blanket repatriation order for all Germans and Austrians.

This caused great alarm in Shanghai's Ghetto, where many Jews fear they would be forced to return to anti-semitic countries. Recently the sweeping deportation policy was modified to permit exemption of persons "who have neither acted as spies nor been suspected of espionage nor collaborated with enemy nations during the war."

The new roundup thus involves detention of Nazis seeking camouflage amid the multitude of bona-fide refugees as well as those trying to disappear into the vastness of China.

Col. Richard C. Wittman of Lincoln, Neb., repatriation chief in the

China theater, said the Nazis were to be sent back to Germany

as soon as possible.

Welfare Workers Study Medical Fee

CUSINO REFUGE OPENS MONDAY

Experimental Post Work To Be Resumed After War Shutdown

Munising—Eleven counties were represented at the meeting of Upper Peninsula Welfare Workers, held in the Munising court house Friday afternoon.

Difference between doctors fees in the many counties took the interest of the afternoon. Comparison was made with the Michigan State Medical Society prices for home calls and hospital calls.

As reported now home calls made in the various counties range from $1.50 to $3.00. Doctors calls at hospitals range from $1.00 to $3.00 and night calls from $2.50 to $5.00.

In comparison with the set State rates these are lower but it was expressed by some doctors that they couldn't feel right by charging the high prices set by the state to the welfare department and private patients as those prices are based on large city cost of living which doesn't hold true in this territory.

Leiphart Will Seek Alger County Clerk Post As Republican

Munising—J. Donlin Leiphart, 34, announced his intentions Saturday of seeking the nomination for the Alger county clerk position, on the Republican ticket.

He is a veteran of World War II having served for 19 months in the European theatre and spent five of the 19 months in a German prisoner of war camp. Together with his entire company he was taken prisoner on December 11, in the Alsace territory and was freed by the American forces on April 29.

Mr. Leiphart is a graduate of Mather high school class of 1929 and for three years has been Munising representative of the New York Life Insurance Company.

Both experimental and investigation work are planned at the game refuge.

This will include, as in the past, carrying capacity working out through use of braise plots, (an acre in area), how many deer can be fed in a given area.

Usually in this area there is from two to four feet of snow during the winter. At the beginning of the yarding season the deer are live-trapped, about five to ten being placed in each fenced off area. It has been determined that two deer per acre can be fed on cedar browse. The object is to get a measure of long time carrying capacity so that they can arrange for a certain length of hunting season to take off the surplus deer.

It is also the ambition of the experimental station to find an upland game bird suitable for this part of the country by us of a propagation plant system. They will try and find a game bird that will take some of the hunting pressure off birds that we have in the U.P. now.

Game birds of the U.S.S.R. and the Scandinavian countries are to be studied with the hope of finding a species which can be transplanted in this country.

Munising—Formal institution of the Munising unit of the Marine Corps League auxiliary will be held at 3:30 Sunday afternoon in the Legion County club.

Mrs. Agnes Graham, past national aide and president of the

Chemists Of U. S. Did Good War Job

Atlantic City, N. J.—German chemists had the better of American chemists on some fronts in the industrial war behind the shooting war. But they were not supermen; American chemists more than held their own in other fields.

This reversal of the state of affairs that obtained during World War I, when German chemical industry was triumphant all along the line, was described by R. L. Murray, Vice-president of the Hooker Electrochemical Company at Niagara Falls, N. Y., to the American Chemical Society. Mr. Murray was one of the American Technical men who investigated German chemical plants after the close of the war.

One field in which German scientists had made tremendous advances, he reported, was the production and use of acetylene, valuable in itself as an industrial gas and also as initial raw material for certain types of synthetic rubber and many other products.

Before the war the CCC camps were the source of labor for the camp but when it opens on Monday there will be only four persons operating the camp. These men will be Mr. Stebler, Warren W. Shapton and two laborers.

Mr. Stebler reports that the corporals are in need of repair as no maintenance has been done for the past four years. The camp will be repaired as soon as possible but lack of building material and skilled labor for construction work are the two factors holding up the project, he said.

A headquarters building will be built but the camp isn't expected to get into full swing of activity until another year, because of the market holdups.

Both experimental and investigation work are planned at the game refuge.

QUOTA REACHED BY RED CROSS

Delta County Chapter Reports Goal Has Been Exceeded

Delta county has reached its quota in the 1946 Red Cross drive, Thaxter Shaw, treasurer, announced yesterday.

The county-wide drive which began March first was completed the first of the week and the St. Louis area office of the American Red Cross notified of the conclusion of the campaign.

L. J. Jacobs, chapter president, issued a statement yesterday in which he expressed appreciation to the hundreds of volunteer workers in Delta county who spent much of their time and effort in again making the Red Cross drive a success. He also extended the appreciation of the officers and directors of the chapter to the contributors who, through their generous contributions made it possible for the county to again reach its quota as it has done in many years past.

Some collections still remain to be received before the drive books are officially closed for this year, it was stated.

Smelt Spurn Plea Voiced By Andy P.

BY ANDY P. OLAFSON

Well I will take my pen in hand which I filled at the Cort House whilst paying up my taxes on the back Forty where I am cutting Cedar posts for sell to the Rusty furniture co. & will answer some of the letters I have rec'd. since as follows

To Oscar P. Palmer

Ford R. Sivish Mich.

No the Smelts are not coming back no more this yr. than they have been so far to date on acc't

I have went out on the smelt Streams noseing around and I have called them with the Olafson Smelt Call which is a secret call knownst to me only & which I have not even told to my wife for fear it would get around as it is a Dangerous thing to handle like the Automic Bomb and like I said the Smelts are acting very Strangeable this yr. & as near as I can finger it out they are on strike for higher Prices which all ways go down as soon as they is lots of smelt.

Hoping you are the same from Andy P. Olafson

Emil Skunkell Seney Mich

Yes that Chippeny chick water will be all you will need to cure you're Freind Johnny Valkomen which has got Atumic Fever and you do not need to put anything in the water there is enough in it all ready but you was wrong to boil up the Pencils in water to make Pencils to cure him & you can cut out the Sulpheric acid now if you give him Chippeny water that is spring tonic enough for any body hoping this will make you Happy & him too from Andy P. Olafson

Winky Blatz Escanaba Mich

Yes your Brother is right about the state being all wet and Screwie to let them have only one tavern for every 1500 peoples as there is not a Tavern around here which will hold 1500 people & if they allowing one Tavern for every 300 peoples they would still have to build the Taverns bigger so I think you will get lots of votes for running for the school Board if you stick to that Platform of more & bigger Taverns and even the Helth dpt. would not let you crowd 1500 peoples in one tavern

Farmer Com Stonington Mich

No the bridge across the bay to Stonington is not dead & you can go ahead with your meeting! Celebrating the grand opening even if the Govt. is cracking down on it & trying to get me to get houses for Veteran Soldiers instead but I am takeing it up with the United Nations so you can see the paper work is still going on for that bridge and you will notice by the Paper how the city of Escanaba is growing. Trees in a nursery well some of them are to plant along the bridge to make it nice and Shaddy and them trees along the bridge will be much appreciated by the fish and the fishermen and horses pedistrians dogs and etc

Well I have some more letters to answer but will let them go until next wk. when my Daughter will be home from school on vacation to read them off

Vitamin Lack Seen As Start Of Cancer

Washington—Lack of vitamin B1, or thiamin, may be the first link in a chain leading via the liver and female hormone to cancer of the uterus, it is suggested in a report by Dr. J. Ernest Ayre and Dr. W. A. G. Bauld, of the Royal Victoria Hospital and McGill University, Montreal, in the forthcoming issue of Science here.

If the theory proves correct it should be possible, by two simple tests, to determine 1. whether the woman has cancer; 2. if not, whether she is likely to develop cancer; and 3. whether she has deficiency or thiamin. If the tests show a dangerous precancerous linkage between low vitamin and high female hormone concentrations, prevention of cancer might be possible through corrective treatment.

The vitamin lack might operate to start cancer by damaging the liver, the Canadian investigators suggest. The damage might be too slight to be detected by present tests of liver function, yet might be severe enough to keep the liver from inactivating female hormone. This material might therefore accumulate in the body and cause cancer of the uterus.

Same Old Story

SPEAKING at the Hyde Park home and grave of Franklin D. Roosevelt, President Truman pledged his administration to continuation of the basic policies of the New Deal as outlined and developed by his predecessor.

Mr. Truman's pronouncements on the objectives of his administration were not surprising. He is president of the United States today because Mr. Roosevelt endorsed him for the vice presidential nomination in 1944 after the Democratic convention at Chicago had reached an impasse on the selection of Henry Wallace for the nomination.

The record of Mr. Truman in his first year as the chief executive of the nation provides further evidence that the Truman administration is committed entirely to perpetuation of the New Deal philosophy of "tax, spend and elect" so vividly stated by the late Harry Hopkins.

The New Deal program of unbalanced budgets and mounting federal deficits is promised as a basic policy of the Truman administration, just as it was the foundation of the Roosevelt administrations.

Even now, with the most costly war in all history behind us and a federal deficit of nearly 300 billions of dollars, the national administration does not propose a speedy return to a balanced federal budget. On the contrary, the payrollers are increasing with each passing month.

Anti-Cancer Week

DURING Easter Week, April 21 to 28, the American Cancer Society will conduct a nation-wide campaign for funds to carry on its important work.

This year's goal of $12,000,000 is the highest that the society has ever sought. More dollars will mean more facilities and help in the still unsuccessful quest for the cure of a disease which now kills one American every three minutes. More dollars will mean that more cases can be detected early enough to be checked.

The work being done to fight cancer is as important as the efforts to curb tuberculosis and other ills. The general public is given an opportunity to contribute to these worthy causes. In giving, they derive the satisfaction that comes from knowledge that they have done something toward the well-being of their fellow men.

Fats Still Needed

THREE Press previously advised its readers of the urgent need for waste paper salvage to supply the needs of the paper-and-board industry. Another wartime salvage program that must be continued is the collection of fats.

In fact, the fat salvage situation is more acute now than during the war. Manufacturers of soap and other articles requiring this ingredient are endeavoring to meet an increased peace-time demand for their products.

Through newspaper advertising, the American Fat Salvage Committee, Inc., has achieved some notable results, however. When rationing ended last November, it was expected that fat collections would drop with the elimination of the red point bonus. But housewives and others responded splendidly to the advertising appeal to save fats to help prevent soap shortages.

In November 1945, fat collections totaled 8,577,000 pounds, but by last March the figure had risen to 16,077,000 pounds. The results speak well for newspaper advertising and also quite likely the desire of the American public for cleanliness.

Smoke Abatement

COAL producers and coal-carrying railroads of the country are financing the work of the Coal Producers Committee for Smoke Abatement in a nation-wide program to curb the smoke nuisance.

The two industries are interested in smoke abatement because first of all they recognize that this nuisance puts coal into disrepute. Doubtless, they have viewed with considerable concern the public's tendency to shift to other heating methods—oil, gas and electricity.

The committee, which has its headquarters in the Transportation building, Cincinnati, is offering its services to any community which earnestly desires to abate its smoke nuisance. Engineering advice will be furnished free of charge and assistance also will be given in organizing a community program.

The coal industry and the railroads are now spending millions of dollars for research work on the development of smokeless stoves, furnaces and locomotives. Research has developed this equipment to a point where in addition to burning solid fuel smokelessly, it has improved the efficiency to a considerable extent with consequent fuel savings.

There is no magic formula to achieve smoke abatement. It requires constant vigilance and expert advice. The latter can be obtained gratis from the coal producers committee. Every community would be wise to take advantage of its offer.

Midsummer Festival

THE Escanaba recreation board is making tentative plans for the staging of a midsummer festival and has called for suggestions from the public.

Naturally, no midsummer festival program would be complete unless advantage were taken of the possibilities offered by Escanaba's waterfront. In Little Bay de Noc and in Ludington park, large crowds could be entertained with boat races, Venetian Nights and other pageantry, swimming and other aquatics, band concerts, tennis matches and other recreational events. A midsummer festival should help in developing a greater appreciation of Escanaba's waterfront facilities.

BOX COMPANY IS BEING SUED

Trial Likely To Resume At Menominee In May Term

One of the trials that may be resumed at the May term of circuit court in Menominee is the suit of A. C. Wells and Nellie S. McCormick against the Menominee Box and Lumber company and five of its stockholders.

Wells and Mrs. McCormick are seeking dissolution of the firm and liquidation of its assets. Meredit P. Sawyer represents the plaintiffs and the Marinette firm of Eastman and Rose represents the firm and the stockholders. A. L. Harvey and G. R. Washburn, Norman R. Johnson and E. P. Enders.

The suit was started last October, and at a special session of circuit court last week Judge Frank A. Bell adjourned the case to permit Sawyer to obtain more witnesses. Wells and Johnson testified before adjournment.

Wells contends that the firm has not made money since its organization in 1919, that a reasonable offer for the business has been received, and asks the court that the offer be accepted by the stockholders and the firm dissolved.

It is also Wells' contention that the Daley plant, a woodworking concern, the present box company, was bought on a land contract with a small down payment and the balance on the contract paid "out of earnings of the plant" and the defendant stockholders received the stock. He alleges he has been an "angel" to the firm, contributing far more money than the other stockholders, and that the other stockholders are blocking the sale of the firm because they do not want to give up the jobs they have with the firm.

He claims that 25 percent of the par value of the stock, worth $100 a share, has been paid the stockholders in dividends, and further claims in his petition to the court that the firm can be sold for 75 percent of the par value.

DIES IN OAK PARK

Menominee—Robert A. McDonald, who formerly operated McDonald's Drug store in Marinette, died Monday in Oak Park after collapsing on the street, Marinette friends were advised Wednesday.

Mr. McDonald retired from the drug business in June, 1943, when he sold his store to H. C. Brooks. He had been residing with a sister in Oak Park.

START METER SYSTEM

Iron Mountain, Mich.—Iron Mountain's much-discussed new parking ordinance, enforcing the use of some 230 penny and nickel-rate meters in downtown business areas, will go into effect Monday morning, it was revealed today by Chief Hassel.

Adopted by the city to relieve the congested parking conditions in shopping areas, enforcement of the meter system will begin at 8:30. Thereafter, the daily hours, Monday through Saturday will be from 8:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m., except on Fridays when the time will be extended to 9 p. m. The new ordinance will not be enforced on Sundays or legal holidays.

TITUS WILL SPEAK

Norway—C. P. Titus, Delta county school commissioner, will discuss and demonstrate the telebinocular, an instrument for determining visual ability, at a meeting Tuesday night, in the school auditorium, of the Norway PTA. Titus was to have been the speaker at the March meeting but was prevented, by illness, from coming here.

He will demonstrate how the machine, by which 12 tests for vision may be given, can be used in the schools to determine color blindness, depth perception and the size type which children can read with no eye strain.

OIL TANKER ARRIVES

Houghton—Navigation in the Keweenaw Waterway was opened for the 1946 season Thursday noon when the Pure Oil Company's tanker, L. S. Wescott, tied up at the dock of the International Oil Co. at Dollar Bay with a cargo of more than 2,000,000 gallons of gasoline.

The Wescott, which made two trips here last season, is the only large oil tanker to deliver cargoes at a Portage Lake port.

BUYS NEW PLANE

Stambaugh—E. J. Witcock, mayor of Stambaugh, announced this morning that he had purchased a new Taylorcraft airplane. The 1946 model of the popular private plane seats two persons side by side and is one of the best small planes available.

Years later a Delta county man admitted to Sheriff Edward Reindl that he had started the blaze because fires brought him pleasure. The man is now in a state institution at Ionia.

MENOMINEE HAD BIG FIRE IN 1931

Loss At Wells Lumber Company Was About Million Dollars

Fifteen years ago yesterday Menominee crashed the front page of every newspaper in the nation. The country's largest fire of the year wiped out the last of Menominee's sawmills, the million dollar Wells Lumber company blaze. With the fire went jobs of nearly 400 employees.

The Wells fire, which followed an afternoon blaze of April 12, 1931, that destroyed the village of Wallace at an estimated loss of almost $120,000, threatened to level a path through the city of Menominee from the lumber yards to the river but a sudden shift in the wind sent the billows of flame out over Green bay.

Twenty-two Horses Destroyed
Thirty million feet of lumber stacked in the yards and on docks jutting out into the bay, two million feet of logs decked on ramps, the sawmill plant, the hardwood flooring mill, dry kilns, warehouses, docks, stables, 22 horses, everything within the boundaries of the company's property was destroyed.

Fire equipment from Marinette, Green Bay and Escanaba was used in battling the fire which started in the southwestern part of the yards. Milwaukee firemen roaring toward Menominee on four pumpers were intercepted and sent back when the wind shifted and the threat to the entire city dissipated.

The alarm came in about 12:30 a. m. and from then on the fire raged all night long, consuming piles after pile of stacked lumber. There were no signs of relief until daylight broke on Monday, April 13. But the relief was short-lived when the wind moved to the northeast and veered the flames back to destroy what had been missed when the blaze first swept across the yards.

Admits Starting Blaze
When the fire died out all that remained was a fringe of a few thousand feet of lumber in the northwestern corner of the yard. Everything else was gone.

Years later a Delta county man admitted to Sheriff Edward Reindl that he had started the blaze because fires brought him pleasure. The man is now in a state institution at Ionia.

Demand For Pine Seedlings Breaks All-Time Record

Lansing—An all-time record demand by farmers for seedling pine trees has been set already at the conservation department's Higgins Lake nursery, and the season for shipping seedlings may run another three weeks.

Orders began coming in a month early this year, and to date 1,300 of them for 3,263,000 pine seedlings have been received. The entire spring season a year ago produced only 414 orders for 1,077,000 pines, and the previous spring high was 800 orders.

Farmers able for the first time since the war started to spare the labor for tree planting are accounting for the increase, as school and community forest orders are reported about normal. The demand is particularly heavy in soil conservation districts.

All jack pine available for public purchase has been sold and the supply of white pine is low, but red pine stock still is abundant at the nursery. Shipping will continue until spring growth begins, about May 15, or earlier, depending upon the weather.

Stock from the conservation department's nursery is sold for reforestation purposes only.

Follo To Attend Adult Education Meet In Detroit

Charles Follo, principal of the Escanaba Adult Education school, will attend an adult education conference in Detroit April 23-26, it has been announced.

Attending the meeting will be representatives of the American Association for Adult Education, Department of Adult Education of the National Education Association, Adult Education Board of the American Library Association, the Educational Film Library Association and the National University Extension Association.

Mr. Follo is chairman of the section on community adult schools.

Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler announces that the state highway department will conduct a school of instruction for district construction field personnel, April 18-19 in the Sherman Hotel, Escanaba. County road engineers are invited to attend the meeting, according to Scott H. Baker, Lansing, construction engineer of the highway department, who is in charge of the school.

Instruction courses will acquaint highway department engineers with construction procedure and road designs which are to be used in the department's postwar construction program, now getting under way. The engineers will be instructed in the new type of air-entrained concrete which prevents scaling, changes in concrete pavement design, use of rubber type joint fillers, solid engineering and the Federal-Aid Secondary road policies.

Delta County Churches Plan Special Holy Week Program

Protestant churches of Delta county will unite in two special Holy Week services, the first of which will be held Monday night at Gladstone in the high school auditorium at eight o'clock.

The Rev. Axel G. Pearson, pastor of the First Methodist church of Moline, Ill., will be the speaker.

The second of the special services will be held Tuesday evening in Escanaba at the Junior high school auditorium. The services are sponsored by the Delta County Ministerial Association.

The program for the service at Gladstone tomorrow night will be as follows:

Opening hymn: "In the Cross of Christ I Glory."

Scripture — The Rev. James G. Ward.

Immanuel Choirs Present Easter Cantata Tonight

The senior and junior choirs of the Immanuel Lutheran church will present an Easter cantata, "When Christ Arose," tonight, Palm Sunday evening, at 7:30 o'clock.

The cantata, written by F. G. Walter-L. S. Clark, is directed by Mrs. L. R. Lund. Miss Betty Erickson is the accompanist, and Mrs. Gus Johnson is the narrator.

The program follows:

"The Light of Victory" — the senior and junior choirs.

"Perfect Through Suffering" — soprano solo, Mrs. Hilmer Johnson.

"O Saviour of the Starkest Night" — women's three-part chorus.

"The Seal Was on the Stone" — men's chorus, Ronald Johnson, and the senior choir.

"Come to the Garden" — the senior choir.

"Christ Is Risen Today" — the senior and junior choir.

"Not Far Away" — baritone solo, Norman Hanson.

"Peace Be Unto You" — Edna Sundstrom and the senior choir.

"For Love of Thee" — Mrs. Norman Hanson, Cleve Moore, senior and junior choirs.

"Easter Light" — the senior choir.

Sermonette — "Christ, Our Hope" — Pastor L. R. Lund.

Home Economics Club members of Delta county will meet at the Webster school annex in Escanaba on Wednesday, April 17, for the annual Achievement Day program, it was announced yesterday by E. A. Wenner, county agricultural agent.

By agreement of the leaders, the clubs will participate in the exhibitions of handwork as follows:

Bark River's three clubs will exhibit accessories, the Gladstone group a lesson on dyeing fabrics, the ornell group home canning, and the Rapid River group, time savers.

The annual business meeting will be held at 11 a.m. and an educational program is being arranged for the afternoon.

Meeting Of P. T. A.
Is Held At Nahma

Nahma, Mich. — The Parent Teachers Association met at the school on Tuesday evening. During the business meeting it was decided to give a carnival at the club house on April 26. Lew Bramer of the high school faculty was named chairman and the committee assisting him is as follows: Mrs. Jones, Miss Olive McClinchy, Miss Mary Krutina, Mrs. Bradley, Mrs. Herb Blowers, Mrs. Al Hescott and Miss Lloyd Camps. The money made from the carnival will be used for playground equipments. An automatic electric iron will be raffled at the carnival along with other valuable items.

A social hour followed the business meeting. Mrs. Ed Tobin held high score for the Bridge games and Mrs. Adrian Hebert had high in 500. Felix Cayemberg held high score in Cribbage.

Lunch was served in the school dining hall by the April committee.

Bowling Notes

This week's league bowling was marked with number of upsets. On Monday the Elite five turned the tables on the league leading Yard Birds and too 2 games. One game was won by 10 pins and the other by one pin. On Tuesday night the P's took 2 games from the Herring Chokers. Thursday night the River Rats proved to be too much for the Scholars when they trimmed them 3 times.

French War Brides Get Advice On American Fashions, Customs

BY ROSETTE HARGROVE
NEA Staff Correspondent

Paris—(NEA)—How to ride a bicycle in America, when to chew gum and what to wear to meet a mother-in-law were some of the points discussed at a recent orientation program for 350 French G. I. brides at the American Red Cross Brides' club, prior to their departure for the United States.

The program was organized by Mrs. Harriet Goodman, fashion director of William Filene's Sons, Boston, Mass., and a feminine board of experts from different parts of the United States answered questions about life in their country. A fashion show was held illustrating the relationship between the French and American ways of dressing. It was explained that American chic draws heavily on the smart play and casual clothes designed there and what is suitable for wear in America today depends on the section of the country in which the brides expect to settle and the kind of life they will lead.

Mother-in-Law Dress

When the commentator singled out a couple of chic but sober models as "This would be a perfect dress to wear to meet your mother-in-law," the brides all laughed merrily. They were obviously more concerned with how they would be received by their husbands' relatives and friends than in the kind of clothes to wear.

I sat behind 19-year-old Mrs. Elizabeth Austin and 22-year-old Mrs. Jacqueline Sauer; the former bound for Batavia, Ill., where her husband is a truck-driver and the

The brides were told that the "pompadour" style of hairdress a number of them wore was not fashionable "over there" and would single them out immediately. So would their exaggeratedly high clogs. Their shoulder-strap bags, however, were right in fashion.

Bike Riding Tip

The different techniques of bicycle riding were brought up. The brides were cautioned that the French girl's little trick of flipping her skirt over the saddle would not go well in a college town or in some sections of the country, particularly the middle west.

Further advice given the young women was "Don't chew gum except in the darkness of a movie or when you are alone at home. We don't do it quite as openly as you do," said their American mentors.

Delta County Reappraisal Reveals "Guesswork" In Assessment

3,000 IN LOST ACREAGE FOUND

Some Dwellings Not Even Listed On Rolls In Townships

The weaknesses and inequalities inherent in the present "guess-work" system of appraising property in Delta county for tax purposes has been revealed as a result of the county-wide property reappraisal by the J. M. Clemenshaw company of Cleveland.

Now being completed under a contract with the Delta county board of supervisors, the reappraisal by the firm is the first of its kind in the state of Michigan. The contract was entered into between the county board of supervisors and the Clemenshaw company, and the cost to the county for the reappraisal of property in the 14 townships was $11,500. This is being paid over a three-year period.

Glaring inequalities in assessment of property—some high and some low; over 3,000 acres "lost" to the tax rolls and going untaxed; dwellings, cottages, cabins and other improvements which have never been placed on assessment rolls; property descriptions listed as owned by persons who have been dead for 20 years—and these and other startling errors have come to light as the reappraisal nears its end.

The condition that exists at the present time is recognized by the board of supervisors as the result of many years of establishing property valuation by "guess-work." Errors and inequalities that may have occurred many years ago and are perpetuated when tax lists are copied each spring, and new ones may creep in.

Equalization Goal

One year ago the county board of supervisors, struggling to arrive at an equalized valuation figure for the county, decided to hire the Clemenshaw company's appraisers to bring the valuation figures up to date and correct the inequalities admitted to exist.

Purpose of the reappraisal is to closer approach equalization of valuations, so that the county tax load may be equitably distributed.

The pictures on this page illustrate the disparity that now exists.

Starting last July the Clemenshaw company's crew, sometimes numbering 15 persons, has been busy for the past nine months making the necessary property inspections and compiling tax list cards—a separate card for each property description. The work is directed by E. T. Wilkins, who said that the company will defend the valuations it is establishing and will assist township boards of review in answering complaints.

One of the oldest and largest property appraisal firms in the country, the Clemenshaw company has made the work of reappraising a science based on facts. In work of the magnitude entailed in reappraising all real property in the county, some errors may occur, Wilkins said. These will be corrected when boards of review are in meeting, and following a recheck on complaints.

Valuation Basis

In its appraisal work the Clemenshaw company revalues the property at a cost which would be required to build anew. From this total there is a reduction for economic depreciation; an economic depreciation deduction because resale value is lower in the county than in a city. The appraisal and listing of all barns or outbuildings is by the same process but with the addition of the value of the building to the land.

Sale prices are considered, but they are not the criterion, Wilkins said.

Sale prices are used primarily to prove that the valuation placed in the reappraisal is not an over-assessment. In its work in the county the company has investigated sales during the past few years totaling more than one million dollars.

Land appraisal is broken down into several classifications—cleared, tillable, pasture, timbered, waste—all considered and all priced separately according to the value of land in the area.

Every building on every farm listed in the reappraisal. Each building is priced individually, which will permit the supervisor to list them individually and make changes in their valuation as they are improved or depreciate or are torn down.

Board Meets Soon

The latter part of this week the tax list cards prepared by the Clemenshaw company and covering 16,000 descriptions will be turned over to the county, and it is expected that an adjourned meeting of the county board will be held soon after to discuss what percentage of the total valuation figure will be accepted for tax purposes. This meeting will be called by Chairman O. J. Thornton of Wells.

Wilkins said that some of the townships will show considerable increases in valuation, others less increase. The increases range from three to 118 percent above the present equalized valuation. The total increase as a result of the reappraisal in the townships and in Gladstone (Gladstone is a separate contract) is expected to be about four million dollars above the present $1,000,000 equalized valuation for the county.

There is but one original set

ASSESSED VALUE $200—This one-story log cabin without improvements of any kind is listed on the tax roll in one of the townships in Delta county at an assessed valuation of $200. In the reappraisal by the J. M. Clemenshaw company the valuation was increased to $270.

ASSESSED VALUE $100—This one-story frame house with basement and all conveniences, including fireplace and insulation is valued at $100 on the assessment rolls—just one-half the valuation on the log cabin pictured at the left. Clemenshaw company appraisers valued it at $2,946.

ASSESSED VALUE $500—The supervisor-assessor in one of the townships has this one-story frame house, with basement and all conveniences including insulation, on the tax rolls for $500 valuation. The Clemenshaw company's appraisal figure is $2,840.

ASSESSED VALUE $800—This two-story frame house without improvements of any kind is on the tax rolls in one township at an assessed value of $800—just $300 more than the modern home pictured at the left. The Clemenshaw company reappraised the property at $887.

ASSESSED VALUE $400—The supervisor in the township in which this one-story frame house is located gave it an assessed valuation of $400 on the tax rolls. Only improvement is electric lights. In the reappraisal by the Clemenshaw company the value was placed at $463.

ASSESSED VALUE $1,500—This one and one-half story frame dwelling with basement, insulation and all conveniences is on the tax rolls at a valuation of $1,500. Clemenshaw company appraisers have set the value of the property at $4,204.

of the tax list cards prepared by the Clemenshaw company, but duplicate sets are being made for townships which order them. Wells and Baldwin townships have been provided with duplicate sets of cards for their townships, Nauvoo and Ensign townships indicated they want sets, and Ford River ordered a set and then cancelled the order.

Under the contract with the county board, ownership of the cards will remain in the county. The cards may be consulted by the supervisors but if the townships want a set of their own they will be expected to have a separate set. The reappraisal work is being paid from county funds, not township funds.

Dangers Of Using Green Lumber For Building Shown

Madison, (P)—Officials from Forest Service regional offices, experiment stations and forest utilization units were told yesterday that there was urgent need to inform the public to the dangers of using green or unseasoned lumber in construction work, including new homes.

The officials represented the nation's major forested areas and met at the Forest Products Laboratory.

R. C. Rietz, chief of the laboratory's division of timber physics, asserted that millions of people planned to invest their savings and future earnings to build new homes, and asked:

"Are we going to stand by and see them build homes with materials that we know will only mean future trouble and possible financial loss, or are we going to take steps to see that as much as possible these difficulties will be avoided?"

"Lumber can be dried in a very short time by modern seasoning methods. A few weeks needed to season it are not going to hold up construction progress to any important degree."

Laboratory officials said the facilities and knowledge now available should be used to the maximum in seasoning lumber. They said manufacturers of building materials should be urged to make fuller use of existing lumber drying facilities.

the union's ranks, a point which he has emphasized particularly.

The executive board's post-convention meeting traditionally maps policies and makes appointments to major union assignments.

One question which may be answered next week is whether Reuther will retain his position as head of UAW's General Motors department, in which capacity he led the 113-day national strike against the corporation. Reuther was GM head as a union vice president.

Since his election as president, Reuther has delayed a decision on the matter. On one occasion he indicated he would like to keep the job, declaring he had become "jond" of it.

Specific assignments for vice presidents Thomas and Richard T. Leonard have not been publicly discussed. Leonard has been director of the union's Ford department. He has also been a supporter of Thomas.

The job of director of aircraft plants apparently is out of the picture in view of discontinuance of most of those factories since the end of the war. That post belonged to former vice president Richard T. Frankensteen, who retired from union office.

Political allegiances of the board members are divided, leaving Reuther with an uncertain amount of influence in the shaping and implementing of the union's policies and programs. Labor sources are agreed on that point though still indicating a "wait and see" attitude.

The close vote in Reuther's election victory over former President R. J. Thomas at the Atlantic City convention foreshadowed possibilities of later opposition in union affairs, and when Thomas was elected a vice president some observers said such an eventuality was almost certain.

On the other hand the auto union's new president has pledged himself to strive for "Unity" in

VETS' TRAINING MEETING HERE

Conference To Be Held Monday At Bonifas Auditorium

On the job training for veterans will be discussed at a meeting here Monday conducted by the Office of Veterans Affairs and the department of public instruction. The meeting will be held at the Bonifas auditorium.

Upper Peninsula veterans counselors, chairmen of local councils of veterans affairs, chairmen of unemployment and education committees of the councils, school superintendents, heads of veterans' institutes, USES representatives, vocational coordinators and county agents have been invited to attend the conference.

The program will include a broad discussion of Public Law 346, enacted by the 78th Congress and designed to assist veterans in securing training. The Michigan superintendent of public instruction has been appointed by Gov. Kelly to recommend approval of educational institutions, business firms and service agencies which will train veterans.

Menominee Plans Daylight Saving

Menominee—the city council may take under consideration at its meeting next Monday night a proposal to invoke "fast time" as the city's official time beginning Sunday, April 28. The matter is before council on a petition signed by more than 150 employees of Signal Electric Mtg. company asking that daylight-saving time be established here during the summer.

Council has also been requested to take such action by city officials of Escanaba, Iron Mountain, Marquette and other U. P. cities which are planning to invoke fast time this year.

Mariette is bound by Wisconsin state law to operate on central standard time, but that wouldn't stop the city from operating on fast time if all merchants decided to step the clocks up, in the opinion of several persons in Mariette.

Mrs. Max Piontek Of Bark River Is Claimed By Death

Mrs. Max Piontek of Bark River died yesterday morning at the family home, after an illness of four months.

She was born May 13, 1906, in Hermansville, and made her home there until 1944, when she moved to Bark River.

Mrs. Piontek is survived by her husband, two daughters, Marlene Piontek, at home, and Rose Marie Rodman of Canton, Ohio; three brothers, John Minerak, Delavan, Wis.; Frank Minerak, Milwaukee; George Minerak of Hermansville; her father, Louis Minerak of Hermansville, and the following sisters:

Mrs. Nick Nichvatal, Delavan, Wis.; Mrs. Frank VanHorn, Elm Grove, Wis.; Mrs. John Katarinak, Escanaba; Mrs. Earl Sartorie, Ann Arbor; Mrs. Eugene Ardvine, Hermansville.

Mrs. Piontek was a member of St. Joseph church of Bark River, and the Croatian Fraternal Society of Hermansville.

The body was taken to the Boyle funeral home, and will be removed to the Croatian hall this afternoon at four o'clock, where it will remain in state until the time of the funeral.

Final rites will be held Tuesday morning at nine o'clock at St. Francis Xavier church at Spalding with the Rev. Fr. F. A. Siebert officiating. Burial will be in the family lot in Spalding cemetery.

TOOTH DECAY IS PART HEREDITY

Indian Groups Have Best Teeth In America, Study Reveals

East Lansing, April 13 (AP)—Heredity is a factor in tooth decay but good care of teeth will help preserve them. These are some of the conclusions drawn by two Michigan State College scientists as a result of research work they have been doing on the inheritance factor of tooth decay in rats.

Dr. H. R. Hunt, head of the M. S. C. Zoology department and Dr. C. A. Hoppert, professor of chemistry, began their work late in 1937 at the suggestion of Dr. Morris Steggerda, former anthropologist of the Carnegie Institution in Washington, D. C. Dr. Steggerda, after a study of physical characteristics of natives of Bermuda and Jamaica, as well as Maya and Navajo Indians and people of Dutch descent living near Holland, Michigan, found that there was little tooth decay in the Indian groups and a great deal of it in the American population of Dutch ancestry.

He suggested that the Michigan State scientists, who had proved that a certain diet would produce tooth decay in rats, find out if the trait were inherited.

Financed jointly by the National Research Council, the American Philosophical Society and the American College of Dentists, the scientists report they have developed a line of rats susceptible to tooth decay and another line of rats relatively resistant to it.

The M. S. C. scientists have now bred the susceptible line for 15 generations and have found that the average time required to develop cavities in the teeth of the rats on the decay-producing diet has decreased from 57 at the second generation to less than 30 days at present.

The average time required to develop tooth cavities in resistant rats now exceeds 300 days.

The trait, the scientists have discovered, is extremely sensitive to the environment and a small change in the diet apparently covers up the heredity differences. The practical consequence of this observation, the researchers point out, is that proper care of the teeth should help preserve them no matter what kind of teeth a person's ancestors had.

Dr. Hunt and Dr. Hoppert think the thing which is inherited is something concerning the chemistry of the mouth which either favors or opposes the growth of the bacteria.

176,227 GM Workers Now Back On Jobs

Detroit, April 13 (AP)—General Motors Corp. announced today that 176,227 hourly-rated workers now are employed in the plants involved in the recent CIO United Automobile Workers strike.

Approximately 175,000 hourly-rated employees were involved in the 113-day strike which started on Nov. 21.

The company announcement said the present employment level represents an increase of 31,000 over a week ago and 88,000 over two weeks ago.

In Flint, Mich., which has the heaviest single area concentration of General Motors' workers current employment of hourly-rated workers number 38,371. At the time of the strike they numbered 33,790.

Goldsboro, N. C. (AP)—Welfare Superintendent J. A. Best said he had the following conversation with a 75-year-old man who lives alone and wants old age assistance:

"How big a garden do you have?"

"None, as I don't eat vegetables."

"Who cooks for you?"

"Don't have any cookin' done."

"Where do you get your meals?"

"From the store. I get soda crackers, bread, smoked sausage and sometimes some canned meat or cheese and a bottle of pop to wash it down."

"How's your health?"

"Good. Can't remember when I've been sick. Haven't been to a doctor or taken medicine in 20 years."

Splendid Concert Is Presented Here By Augustana Group

Under the flawless direction of Henry Veld, director of the famous Augustana College choir, the Augustana Seminary choir presented a fine concert of sacred music last evening at the Bethany Lutheran church, which was heard by a large appreciative audience.

E. Edward Tornow, one of the four senior seminarians in the 25-man chorus, delivered an inspiring message, "Behold the Man," at the conclusion of the first part of the concert, which was divided into five parts.

The fourth part consisted of two solos, "O Lord, Most Holy" by LaFarge, "Bless the Lord, O My Soul" by Ippolito-Ivanoff and the choral benediction, "The Lord Bless You" by Lutkin.

During its annual spring tour, the chorus is appearing in nine churches in Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota.

K-C Initiation Planned May 5

A district initiation will be held by the Knights of Columbus in Escanaba May 5, it has been announced. It is expected that there will be about 75 applicants for induction and the initiation will be conducted by the Gervase Murphy degree team of Calumet.

Applicants are expected from Escanaba, Menominee, Iron Mountain and Manistique. A banquet will be held in the evening at St. Joseph church.

The fourth part consisted of two solos, "O Lord, Most Holy" by LaFarge, and "God, My Father" by Dubois, which were presented by one of the group's fine baritones, Carl Johansson, of Boston, Mass.

Opening the concert were Beethoven's "The Heavens Are Telling" and Schop's "Dearest Jesus, Draw Thou Near Me."

Two folk melodies in the Swedish language were offered in the second part of the concert. These were followed by "Abide With Me" by Monk, and "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God" by Luther.

Solemn and inspiring, "The Day of Judgment" of Arkhangelsky-Gaines, was presented first in the concluding part of the concert. The final three sacred numbers

WOLVERINES TO MEET APRIL 25

Fred Westerman Speaker For Sportsman's Annual Fete

Fred Westerman, chief of the fish division of the Michigan Department of Conservation, will be the principal speaker at the annual dinner meeting of the Wolverine Conservation Association to be held on April 25. The meeting will start with a 6:30 dinner.

The affair will be held in the Odd Fellows Hall on North Tenth street and the meal will be served by the ladies of the Phoebe Rebekah Lodge, it was announced by the program committee of the Wolverines last night. Reservations for the dinner must be made not later than Tuesday, April 23.

Arrangements for this first postwar dinner of the sportsmen are in the hands of a committee made up of H. L. Holderman, A. S. Pearson and J. F. Bartlett.

As the meeting is being held practically on the eve of the trout fishing season, the Wolverines feel that they have been fortunate to secure as their speaker one of the authors of the new plan for management of the sports fishing resources of the state. There is no man better able to tell the fisherman how the new plan will affect his sport.

Lions from Stephenson, Powers, Manistique, Bark River, Gladstone, Rapid River, Rock, Garden and Escanaba will attend the turkey dinner meeting.

Deputy District Governor Charles J. Swanson of Hermansville also will be present at the meeting.

The Escanaba Lions Club will present a meeting going to the Stephenson Lions Club as a part of the evening program.

Following the Lions Club meeting, there will be a zone meeting.

This is Governor Murphy's first visit to the Escanaba Lions Club since his election to the office at the Escanaba convention last summer.

ORDERS SWAMP CAR INDUSTRY

Demand For Passenger Cars Piling Up But Few Produced

BY DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive Editor

Detroit, April 13 (P)—The nation's car industry is being all but buried under a huge demand for new passenger automobiles.

Never in its history have so many persons wanted cars and never has the industry been so hard pressed in its efforts to make them.

Orders are piling up faster than cars are being made. On hand and in immediate prospect is a demand for more vehicles than the assembly lines can produce in the next two years. At the same time, thousands of cars and trucks are dropping off the road each month from complete obsolescence, further enlarging the demand.

Meanwhile the industry, seeking to retain a profitable export market as well as supply the big domestic need, has made only about 300,000 passenger vehicles in nearly 10 months. Every manufacturer is ear-marking a percentage of his total output for export.

The vehicles designated for shipment overseas and to South and Central America and Canada, of course, by-pass the domestic dealers who have been besieged for months by a car-hungry public.

No Retailing

In addition to the huge accumulation of orders in dealers' hands, thousands of requests have come direct to the factory from persons seeking a short cut to quick delivery through acquaintanceship with an executive or someone close to him.

In the end any of these requests that survive a careful screening in the manufacturers' general sales offices go back to the dealer for action—at his own option—because the industry has a "no retail sales at the factory" rule.

The industry's No. 1 problem at this time is steel. The shortage affects not only the car builders' own casting and forging requirements, but also their suppliers.

On the basis of the present outlook steel will continue to be a problem through the remainder of the current year. Certainly no car manufacturer expects to get all the steel he will need until perhaps the middle of 1947.

Axle housings, bearings, bumpers, transmission, frames and other steel components of the car are in short supply, but the principal bottleneck retarding production is in automobile bodies, which require large quantities of sheet steel. And while the body manufacturers have been struggling with the shortage of sheet metal, they have also had difficulties with their own parts suppliers.

Confusing Time

The lack of certain small pieces going into car body assemblies has shut off deliveries from the body plants on several occasions this year.

If the car builders could fill the schedules they have set for the remainder of the year they probably could turn out 3,000,000 passenger units between now and Dec. 31. But few, if any, of them expect to fill the schedules. They look for continued sporadic interruptions to supply lines over the next few months and most of them will be surprised if overall output between now and the year's end exceeds 2,000,000 cars.

Probably the best appraisal of the situation facing the industry came this week from Harry J. Klingler, General Manager of Pontiac Division of General Motors Corp.

Said Klingler: "This is a most confusing and difficult time. Nobody can say now how many automobiles are going to be made this year or next; a manufacturer can tell you his schedules, but that's all. If the coal strike continues very long nobody will build any cars."

New Airplanes Fly 760 Miles An Hour

Washington, April 13 (P)—Navy test airplanes designed to race the 760-mile-an-hour speed of sound are being developed at a California plant.

The Navy said today several airplanes, with instruments for recording aerodynamic forces at "previously unattained horizontal flight speeds" are being built in the Douglas Aircraft company's plant at El Segundo, Calif.

Because of the exploratory nature of the project in which planes will push into unknown speed brackets, special safety precautions are being taken. These will include a device to eject the pilot's cockpit if a bail-out becomes necessary. The terrific air blast of 760 miles-an-hour speed would make it impossible for a pilot merely to climb over the side and drop.

Veteran Admits Torturing Child At Grand Rapids

Grand Rapids, April 12 (P)—A 31-year-old Navy veteran today pleaded guilty in Superior court here to a charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm to four-year-old Beverly Shay while the child and her mother lived at his home.

The youngster is recovering in St. Mary's Hospital from bruises and burns suffered at the hands of Hubert who has admitted he beat and tortured her because

BIG TEST FACES UAW PRESIDENT

Influence Of Reuther Uncertain In Shaping Union Policies

BY FELIX B. WOLD

Detroit, April 13 (P)—Walter P. Reuther headed tonight toward a test of strength as president of his CIO United Auto Workers union.

With other members of the big UAW-CIO's 22-man international executive board, the union's newly elected president prepared for the board's post-convention session which may have vital significance to the UAW's future.

The board starts a week-long meeting in Chicago on Monday, and union circles are expected to watch developments carefully in the light of the recent administration changes.

Political allegiances of the board members are divided, leaving Reuther with an uncertain amount of influence in the shaping and implementing of the union's policies and programs. Labor sources are agreed on that point through still indicating a "wait and see" attitude.

One question which may be answered next week is whether Reuther will retain his position as head of UAW's General Motors department, in which capacity he led the 113-day national strike against the corporation.

Since his election as president, Reuther has delayed a decision on the matter. On one occasion he indicated he would like to keep the job, declaring he had become "fond" of it.

proposed by Chairman May (D-Ky.) of the military committee. May said "it is wrong to draft children."

While the two fancied easterners, Marine Victory and Miss O'Gold, wallowed behind, Almond, from the barn of Cleveland accountant Al C. Ernst, and Islam Prince, stretch-running hope of J. B. Theall of New Orleans, finished one-two in the mile-and-a-sixteenth experimental handicap, and thereby served notice that they'll be taking that train ride to Kentucky for Col. Matt Winn's $100,000 merry-go-round May 4.

Although Ernst's $10,500 leading buy of seasons ago hit the wire a length in front to chalk up his third straight win as a three-year-old, Islam Prince's flying finish made him look like the fellow more likely to succeed when they stretch out to the derby's mile and a quarter. Almond packed only 106 pounds, part of which was Jockey Arnold Kirkland—while the Prince toted 114 and closed from fifth place.

The east's derby hopes in this first local prep over a distance of ground came in for a particularly rude shock, especially since the sardine-packed Saturday crowd of 47,102 backed Marine Victory down to odds-on.

Opponents of both amendments claimed there are insufficient men in the age group from 20 through 29—which the legislation affects—to meet expected needs of the armed services.

Most of the eligibles in that group, they said, already have been drafted or have been rejected.

Prince Is Released By U.S. Authorities At Sugamo Prison

Tokyo, Saturday, April 13. (P)—American authorities today released Prince Moritasa Nashimoto from Sugamo prison, where he had been confined since December 12 as the only member of the imperial household in custody as a war criminal suspect.

Obviously, the cash contributors poured it in on the Baltimore gee-gee from the barn of Robert Bruce Livie, because of his ten-length win in his first outing. But all the fight was taken out of Marine Victory when he hooked up with Almond in a flashy struggle rounding the stretch turn, and he brought his 120-pound import home third, a length and a half back of Islam Prince and 2½ behind the winner, who clicked off the mile and a sixteenth in 1:44 4-5. Mrs. H. C. Philip's Misleader, a Preakness candidate, was fourth.

Meantime Miss O'Gold, a Florida state winner owned by Mrs. Vera S. Bragg of Noroton, Conn., never got into high gear and ambled in fifth in the field of six.

It appeared unlikely that the security council would reach the Spanish question Monday. The Iranian issue is ahead of it on the provisional agenda which will be taken up Monday at 3 p.m., EST. Russia has proposed dropping of the Iranian case from the agenda without waiting until the May 6 date previously fixed by the council for hearing reports on Soviet troops withdrawal from Iran.

Quiet, 68-year-old President Sergio Osmeña and Volatile Brig. Gen. Manuel Roxas, the candidates in the April 23 election, keep an eye on that volcano as they work the field for votes.

The unrest was born of war; black markets, rising living costs, the discontent of poor sharecroppers, and America's delay in beginning the rehabilitation and paying war damage claims.

The Filipinos have arms and they have used them in clashes with Filipino M.P.'s Osmeña recently enlarged the M.P. force from 19,000 to 23,000 in an effort to keep order in the last days before the vote.

Who are these armed men? They are destitute former guerrillas; they are poor farmers demanding a bigger share of the rice they grow for their landlords; and some are just outlaws frolicking in the chaos.

The government hoped to disarm them before the election, fearing that armed bands might try to control the vote. Some Agrarian groups promptly announced they would resist until the rice issue was solved.

So the situation has rocked along. Despite all this, the new registration of voters came off without serious trouble. Largest in Philippines history, the registration almost guarantees a record vote.

With transportation sadly disrupted, it may take weeks to tally the vote and the government faces a heavy responsibility to prevent tampering in the interim.

Roxas and Osmeña both advocated independence on July 4, both want good trade relations with the United States and unlimited investment of American capital, but there all similarly ends.

Osmeña has refused to campaign, to the despair of his followers, declaring, "I shall stand on my record" of 40 years of uninterrupted public service in the islands.

Expulsion Of Russia Haunts Windup Of League Of Nations

Geneva, April 13 (P)—The specter of its last futile gesture in 1939—the expulsion of Russia from membership—haunted the League of Nations today as delegates informally sought to dodge a joint Czechoslovakia-Polish resolution which would give the Soviet union a share in league assets.

French delegate Emile Charvet originally suggested that Russia be cut in on the league's funds, but his proposal was dropped for lack of a second.

Later, Polish delegate Jan Rosner formally introduced a resolution on behalf of Poland and

Step-Father Beats Tiny Baby, Held For Attempted Murder

Detroit, April 13 (P)—An eight-months old baby girl was in critical condition in suburban Highland Park general hospital today, while her step-father was held on a charge of investigation of attempted murder.

Policeman Orneulo Utley, who signed the complaint against Charles Vier, 26, said the step-father admitted striking the child after becoming annoyed when she cried.

Utley gave this version of the assault:

He said Vier admitted slamming the child down in the crib when she cried. The crib broke and the child fell through to the floor.

The step-father then placed the child in a rocking chair and struck her several times more when she continued to cry.

Vier then left for his work as an elevator operator and the child's mother, Mrs. Margaret Vier, returned from a brief absence to find the baby unconscious. The police official said Vier was arrested at his work.

Hospital attendants said the child had suffered a fractured skull.

FOR GI'S AMUSEMENT

London (P)—A former lieutenant-colonel was among applicants for a bus conductor's job here.

At the beginning of the Japanese war on China, the highways in China totaled 67,000 miles, less than one-fourth of which were surfaced.

Raymond P. Brandt, chief of the Washington Bureau of the St. Louis Post Dispatch, was inaugurated as Gridiron Club president for 1946 in a sketch in which five quiz kids confused him with President Truman. The script pointed out that Brandt like Truman was born in Missouri, served as an artillery officer in World War I, negotiated with Russia and knows his politics.

Brandt concluded his inaugural speech by saying that President Truman "is an ardent follower of Thomas Jefferson and state's rights—with a difference."

These delegates said an attempt would be made to have Poland either withdraw the resolution, or change it to a mere expression of friendship for Russia without any legal or financial consequences.

Chatham

Johnson-Pangborn

Chatham, Mich.—Miss Evelyn Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Johnson of Chatham, became the bride of Erwin Pangborn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pangborn of Munising at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, March 30, in the parsonage of the Grace Evangelical Lutheran church of Detroit. The Reverend Frederick L. Kloch performed the double ring ceremony in the presence of immediate relatives and close friends.

The bride was attired in a white sheer street length dress with matching accessories and wore a corsage of red roses. Miss Dorothy Johnson, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a gold color street length dress with matching accessories and a corsage similar to the bride. Robert L. Lesey, of Detroit, a close friend of the groom, acted as best man.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Johnson chose an aqua colored afternoon dress and wore a corsage of red carnations.

The groom's mother was unable to attend.

After the ceremony a five course wedding dinner was served for the bridal party in the dining room of the Euclid Club.

The bride is a graduate of Eben High school, class of 1941, and was previously employed as chief clerk of the Alger County draft board at Munising. She is now employed in the office of the Ingersoll-Rand Co., Detroit. The groom is a graduate of Mather High school, Munising, and is a veteran of three year's service in the U.S. navy. He is now employed by the Western Electric Co., Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Pangborn will make their home in Detroit.

Salminen-Piatt

Miss Ileen Piatt of Trout Creek became the bride of Leslie Salminen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Salminen of Slap Neck, Saturday afternoon, March 30, in the rectory of the Finnish Evangelical Lutheran church of Marquette, with the Reverend Onni Koski of that church officiating. Miss Bertha Kampinen and Harold Johnson were the attendants. The couple will reside in Chatham.

A wedding shower party was held for them Sunday afternoon and evening, following the wedding at the home of the groom's parents.

Crew Of 50 Works 5 Hours To Subdue Fire At Gladstone

About 50 men in all, members of the conservation department, the Gladstone fire department and volunteers, succeeded in controlling a stubborn fire after almost five hours of work yesterday afternoon on the Gladstone bluff, after the blaze swept over more than 200 acres of land there. The scrub pine in the area was destroyed.

The property, recently acquired by the city of Gladstone, lies between the turn on highway M-35 near the C&NW railroad tracks and a point about a mile and a half northward.

Origin of the fire was not determined.

The blaze was subdued before any property nearby could be damaged.

WALLEYED PIKE AND COMMON SENSE

For a great many years the Wisconsin conservation commission has been so dumb about the pike fishing season in Winnebago and Waupaca counties in Wisconsin that it has been pitiful. Thousands of fishermen protested each year, but it did no good.

Just as they needed panning then, so are they entitled to praise this year for using good judgment. They are going at it in a sane, sound manner, letting the condition of the fish decide when the season should be opened in the waters of those two counties.

The waters of Lake Winnebago, Bute des Morts and the Fox and Wolf rivers are as rich in fish food and fish production as any waters in the world. They can never be fished out by bait, plug or fly fishing. Lake Winnebago is the largest fresh water lake in the United States, lying wholly within a state.

There are really millions of walleyed pike in this chain of good waters. The walleyes go up to spawn in the spring and the fishermen wished to catch them after spawning. A female wall-eye leaves about 100,000 eggs on the spawning grounds and surely 10 of them will reach maturity!

It just didn't make sense to the fishermen, thousands of good sportsmen, when they knew these fish returned to the big lake and continued to renew themselves by the million each year. The limit is seven fish and few could take that many when they fished the big lake, the 30 miles of water, after they returned.

Many fishermen wait until the weather warms up, but hundreds fish only on the day the pike run begins. They fish in the cold, often in the snow and really make not a dent in the great number of walleyes. This year they will have their real chance.

The commission had men out with nets. Just as soon as those fish spawned, new net themselves, word was flashed around the state so the cold weather boys could have their harmless fun. They will be catching spent fish which did no one any good crowding the lake waters.

It was "minute man" service such as the commission can give and to which the sportsmen are entitled, a refreshing change after the old "hard boiled" attitude. On the other hand, Dick says we have but a few days until the trout season opens, the boys can fish trout all night. I cannot agree with the commission on this, but that will have to be another story.

Gladstone Men Trap For Beaver On One Of Delta County's Streams

creek last year but transferred their activities to another Delta county stream this season. In their new location they have had some success and also have avoided crowded conditions. Trees remaining upright in this pond, mostly birch and elm, have been killed by the flooding.

This beaver lodge built between two of the larger trees on a small stream is now the center of a small lake of water held back by the dam downstream from the beaver house. The house, built of branches of trees, well plastered with dirt and mud hides a dry, snug chamber where the beaver spent the winter. There is also a food storage chamber and an entrance which is reached only by diving under water, so old chisel tooth is pretty safe from four footed enemies. Traps set by man are another matter.

Silicosis Hazard Can Be Reduced

Chicago—Better protection of workers in certain industries from the hazard of silicosis appears likely as a result of a new method of sorting the dust in air developed by the Industrial Hygiene Foundation at Mellon Institute, Pittsburgh.

Silica particles so fine that more than 100 million can be piled on the head of a pin can now with the new method be sorted out of larger dust in factory air, Dr. Francis R. Holden, of the Foundation, said in reporting the new development at the meeting of the American Industrial Hygiene Association here.

The finer the silica dust, Dr. Holden continued, the greater the danger because only microscopic particles smaller than five microns are likely to damage the deep lungs. Particles larger than five microns, which is about the size of a red blood cell, are more readily trapped in the filter mechanism of the nose and throat.

Here Wixom is seen making a set in the water near the edge of one of the hummocks on which the beaver do most of their feeding. Kallerson, center and Snouwaert who are watching are well burdened with the tools of the craft. That roll of galvanized wire slung across Snouwaert's shoulders is one of the modern trapper's chief aids in keeping beaver caught once the trap snaps on them. The trap is so attached to the wire that it can easily slide down deeper into the water, but should the beaver try to come to the surface it offers plenty of resistance.

Every bit as characteristic of the beaver's work as his dam is his tree cutting. Food, material for dams and houses all come from the trees the beaver fell. Snouwaert points out the work of the beaver on a tree. This tree is "notched" on the water side and only waits a push from the wind to send it down just where Mr. Beaver wants it.

Don't believe all those tales about the beaver never making a mistake! Here's one! Mr. Beaver "notched" this tree on the water side, but failed to take into consideration some matter such as its projecting limbs and when the tree fell, it twisted off to one side away from the water so that except for the smaller branches which he was able to chew off and haul away, it was of little use.

Here is the fourth member of the party, Vince Johnson, lifting a trap and thoroughly drowning beaver from the water. Traps are set in water or so as to take advantage of the beaver's instinct to dive into the water when alarmed with the aim of drowning the animal before its struggles can free it from the trap. That beaver weighed 65 pounds and furnished a "blanket" size pelt.

Johnson holds the dripping prize. This old fellow succumbed only on his fifth encounter with a trap. Even the forefoot by which he was finally caught showed evidence of having been in a trap before. The other forefoot was entirely gone. Both hind feet had missing nails or toes that bore testimony of previous and more successful encounters with man's traps. (Daily Press Staff Photos)

OUTDOOR HIAWATHALAND

Smelt Surprise

The smelt not only are staging a comeback in lake Michigan waters, but they have conquered Lake Superior. A sizable run has developed in one of the streams near L'Anse.

Harold Lindsay, who had the shepherding of "Smelt Royalty" among his duties in the days of smelt festivals, arrived in L'Anse on Friday morning to find the little town stirred up over a good sized smelt run of the night before.

"It was history reliving itself," says Harold. "They were asking the same questions that were asked in Escanaba in the early 1930's. How should the smelt be cooked? Should the bones be removed?"

There was not a smelt net in the town, so the townspeople hardly knew whether they had a smelt run or not.

On arrival here, Harold sent off a smelt net to L'Anse to serve as a model and requested the Chamber of Commerce to send recipes for cooking the cucumber odored fish to Editor R. W. Mengel of the L'Anse paper.

Smelt were introduced in lakes of Marquette county at the same time that they were planted in lower peninsula lakes and although as early as 1932 they were known to have become established in Howe, Mountain and Trout lakes in Marquette county, no runs of any kind on streams emptying into Lake Superior were reported until the present decade.

Creed

On the threshold of another round of fishing for most anglers, there is no more that we can do to bring pleasure to the angler than to urge that he make his own the creed of the Brotherhood of the Jungle Cock. The brotherhood is now an international organization of fishermen whose principal activity is a crusade for the spread of the creed wherever man fish for pleasure.

The Creed:

"We who love angling, in order that it may enjoy practice and reward in the later generations, mutually move together towards a common goal—the conservation and restoration of American game fishes."

"Towards this end we pledge that our creel limits shall always be less than the legal restrictions and always well within the bounty of Nature herself."

"Enjoying, as we do, only a life estate in the out of doors, and morally charged in our time with the responsibility of handing it down unspoiled to tomorrow's inheritors, we individually undertake annually to take at least one boy a-fishing, instructing him as best we know, in the responsibilities that are soon to be wholly his."

"Holding that moral law transcends the legal statutes, always beyond the needs of any one man, and holding that example alone is the one certain teacher, we pledge always to conduct ourselves in such fashion on the stream as to make safe for others the heritage which is ours and theirs."

Juneberry

Well,

we have our spring cold,

and for us at least that makes the season official.

The poets and the calendars may proclaim the month of March as the spring month but we are never fooled by that. When the papers bear pictures of the nation's capital in the lace trimmed beauty of cherry blossoms we know that it is spring in Washington but not here, we wait to be fooled by our natal month, April.

A bright sun and a seemingly soft breeze lured us out beyond the reaches of ugly black where the burners have been busy with their spring destruction. We found a sure sign of spring to go with the arbutus and skunk cabbage. Not only a sign of spring, but a promise of fruited summer. It was a white plume of Juneberry in bloom.

Probably hastened out of the buds by the unseasonable warmth of March were a few stems full of blossom. Soon there will be more and although they do not have the brightness of the cherry and dogwood that will follow, these early blooms are eyecatching and attractive.

The bloom will not last long. Leaves will soon follow. With the coming of June there will be berries all along those stems petalled in white. Fruits the size of a small fingerend, they will become crimson, and then blue as huckleberries and finally purple-black when at last they ripen. When you pick and eat them you will wish they had more flavor. However the birds eat them gratefully.

One of the many members of the rose family, botanists call it Amelanchier. There are about a dozen Junebushes in the northeastern section of the United States, ranging from mere bushes to trees twenty-five or thirty feet high.

Known as the Juneberry and the serviceberry, it is also known on the eastern coast as the shade bush because its blooming now coincides with the spawning runs of the shad up the rivers. Occasionally its wood is used for the making of tool handles, umbrella handles or fishing rods. The wood is known as lancewood, a simplification of a portion of its Latin name.

Going back from the road to pick a spray of the blooms we carelessly tramped through a wet little gully and have wet feet and a wind that seemed to turn cold in an instant to blame for the head cold.

To protect telephone and radio batteries from the hot humid climate in the jungles of the Solomons and New Guinea, members of the Signal Corps built underground refrigerator units.

Record Crowds Expected For Major League Baseball Opening

50,000 TO SEE
TIGERS' DEBUT

Newhouser Is Selected
For Mound Duty
Tuesday

BY FRANK KENESSON

Detroit, April 13 (AP)—The world champion Detroit Tigers, making their first home appearance since outlasting the Chicago Cubs last October to win baseball's world series, open their 1946 American league season here Tuesday against the St. Louis Browns.

Favorable weather was expected to bring out a near-capacity throng of 50,000 fans. All reserved seats were gobbled up two weeks ago on the day the sale opened and the same prospect is in store for 20,000 general admission and bleacher seats which go on sale at Briggs stadium at noon Tuesday.

Mayor Edward Jeffries, of Detroit, and Governor Harry Kelly, of Michigan, have accepted an invitation to form a battery of notables for the throwing of the season's first ball and Finzel's band will lead the pre-game parade to the flagpole for the 44th successive year.

A New Lineup

All the usual opening day color and ceremony serves as a backdrop as Michigan's Tiger-worshipping diamond fans swarm into the vast Detroit stadium for the new season's first look at the Bengals who in 1945 romped to baseball's greatest laurels.

Little do the fans care that the Tigers they watch in the first of a three-game series with St. Louis will include only four of their 1945 world series heroes—Pitcher Hal Newhouser, Catcher Paul Richards, First Baseman Hank Greenberg and Second Baseman Eddie Mayo.

The rest of the opening day lineup consists mostly of pre-war Detroit stars who have returned from military service to reclaim their baseball uniforms and their positions in the batting order.

The outfield, for example, is all new, with blustering Dick Wakefield in left, capable Barney McCosky in center and speedy Pat Mullin in right. All were Tiger regulars before the war, as was Pinky Higgins, the opening day nominee at third base.

Detroit fans will be getting their first look at Shortstop Eddie Lake in a Tiger uniform. The heavy-litting, sharp-eyed leadoff man was obtained from the Boston Red Sox last winter in a swap for first baseman Rudy York. Taking over York's post at first is Hank Greenberg, called in from left field, who will be playing his first league game in the infield since 1940.

Team to Beat

With added power at the plate, a top-flight pitching staff and an infield defensively sub-par but strong at bat, Manager Steve O'Neill rates his first Tiger club of the post-war era as the "team to beat" for the 1946 flag.

"After all," Steve points out, "we're the defending champion and we should be stronger this year than last. A lot of other clubs have been strengthened, too, of course and the race will be one

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

The Escanaba baseball club will hold its first practice session this afternoon at two o'clock at the municipal diamond and local ball fans are invited to attend the workout. All players in the Escanaba area interested in seeking positions on the ball club are asked to report. The club has just three weeks to get into shape for the opening league game of the season here with Channing May 5.

Bark River has issued an appeal for the revival of the old Cloverland league and Al Ness, of the Escanaba junior league, also is sounding out interest in surrounding

CUBS TRIUMPH IN CITY SERIES

Chicago, April 13 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs clinched their spring city series with the White Sox today by winning a third decision in their five-game rivalry, 6-3, before a homecoming crowd of 11,600 at Comiskey Park.

Catcher Clyde McCullough's three-run double climaxed a five-tally splurge in the sixth inning which iced the contest for the National league champions. McCullough's blow with two out and the bases loaded was a tall fly to right lost by Wally Moses in the sun.

The Sox did all of their scoring in one inning, two of the three-marker cluster in the second coming on starter Edgar Smith's long triple to right. Smith, first of three White Sox tossers, held the Bruins to two hits until the big sixth when First Sacker Hal Trosky dropped a short throw to Alvin Adrian, care Badger Paper Mills, Inc., Peshtigo, Wisconsin.

Both the Escanaba softball players and the local baseball players have some chores ahead of them. The softball boys will dig holes and help pour concrete for the installation of their cyclone fence posts. The baseball players will lay forms and pour concrete for dugouts at the ballpark. The city is cooperating with the sports groups but rightfully expects the boys to dig in and help, too.

The two clubs wind up the series and their exhibition schedule tomorrow at Wrigley Field.

of the most interesting in baseball history."

Detroit fans won't have much of a look at the opening stages of the pennant scramble for only five of the Tigers' first 22 games will be played at Briggs stadium—the rest on the road.

Following the three-game set with the Browns next week Detroit makes a turn around the western cities before returning for strong at bat. Manager Steve O'Neill rates his first Tiger club of the post-war era as the "team to beat" for the 1946 flag.

In case Tuesday's opening game is postponed the tickets already distributed will be honored whenever the first game is played here. To avoid confusion no tickets have been sold for any but the season's first game at Briggs stadium.

Lewis said that applications already have been received from 200 trainees asking stall space for 2,000 horses here, although the stall capacity is 900.

Paul (Dizzy) Trout, who gave only one hit and one run in his three-inning pitching turn for the Tigers, was succeeded by Frank (Stubby) Overmire and the Reds jammed four hits into the fifth inning for three runs to take the lead 4-2.
